RESEARCH GRANT PARTICIPATION

Reducing STI Behavioral Risk Factors and Promoting Screening Among Apaches

NIH/NIGMS U261IHS0093-01-00

09/15/14-09/14/18 (PI: Rompalo)

Funding level: $1,099,880

This is randomized controlled trial of an adapted evidence-based intervention to promote STI screening behavior and personalized risk reduction plans among high-risk Apache adults ages 18-49.

Role: Co-Investigator

Oversee, implement, and analyze focus groups and in-depth interviews with Apache men and women; collaborate on qualitative and mixed methods analyses; participate in manuscript development.

Patient and Provider Knowledge and Attitudes about Infant Feeding Practices among U.S.-based HIV-infected Pregnant Women

Johns Hopkins Center for AIDS Research Scholar Grant
6/1/2016-5/31/2017 (PI: J. Coleman)

Funding Level: $50,000

The objective of this proposal is to explore knowledge, perceptions, practices, and decision-making process around infant feeding among U.S.-based women living with HIV and their health care provider. The results of this project will be disseminated widely and serve as preliminary data for an NIH grant application to develop and pilot an ethically-sound decision-making guide.

Role: Co-Investigator

Oversee, implement, and analyze in-depth interviews with pregnant and postpartum women living with HIV and their health care providers; collaborate on qualitative and mixed methods analyses; participate in manuscript development.

Identifying and Engaging Urban HIV infected and uninfected Young Black Men Who Have Sex with Men (YBMSM) in care

9/1/2016-6/30/2021 (PI: D. Celentano/R. Sanders)

1R01DA043089

Funding level: $1,265,495

This 3-city proposal seeks to address disparities of HIV in YBMSM and transgender women in a multilevel intervention to identify, link retain and engage, high-risk uninfected and HIV infected urban YBMSM and transgender women in prevention and treatment cascade.

Role: Co-Investigator

Oversee qualitative formative research and longitudinal in-depth interviews with YBMSM and transgender women; collaborate on qualitative and mixed methods analyses; participate in intervention development and evaluation, and in manuscript development.

HIV-risk among wives of men who have sex with men (MSM) in India (Part II: Life histories of wives of MSM)

5/1/2015-4/30/2016 (PI: C. Tomori)

Johns Hopkins Center for AIDS Research Scholar Grant
Funding Level: $25,000

This study analyzes life history interviews with women married to MSM that contextualize their entry into marriage, and their daily life experiences in this marriage, including the negotiation of sex and HIV risk behaviors. Research results will be used to develop an intervention that reduces HIV risk among married MSM and their wives.

Role: Principal Investigator

HIV-risk among wives of men who have sex with men (MSM) in India (Part I: The social context of sexual negotiation between MSM and their male and female partners)

8/1/2014-7/31/2015 (PI: C. Tomori)

Johns Hopkins Center for AIDS Research Scholar Grant
Funding Level: $25,000

This study analyzes in-depth interviews with married MSM and their wives that address the negotiation of risky sexual practices outside and within marriage that place married MSM and their wives at risk for HIV. Research results will be used to develop an intervention that reduces HIV risk among married MSM and their wives.

Role: Principal Investigator

Preventing HIV Infection Among MSM in Southern India 1R01MH089266-01A1
09/01/2010 – 08/31/2016 (PI: David D. Celentano) Funding Level: $494,801

This community-randomized trial evaluates the effectiveness of gay-friendly men's wellness centers on the uptake of prevention services among men who have sex with men in south India.

Role: Co-Investigator

Conduct qualitative and collaborative mixed methods data analysis, participate in intervention evaluation, and participate in manuscript development.

Improving HIV testing among wives of MSM in India R21 MH101059-01
8/25/2013-07/31/2015 (PI: S. Solomon) Funding Level: $397,585

This mixed-methods epidemiology study seeks to identify interventions to improve HIV testing among spouses of men who have sex with men in India. This study will also characterize prevalence and correlates of prior HIV testing, HIV and STIs among spouses of MSM in India.

Role: Co-Investigator

Oversee the qualitative phase of the research, design and conduct qualitative data analysis, participate in quantitative survey development, participate in the development of potential interventions, and participate in manuscript development.
